The matter is that a manufacturer can not possess a patent for a certain chemical agent, this is why different manufacturers of generic drugs are able to produce the so-called generics legally.

All medications are obtained from legitimate pharmaceutical wholesalers, so you can rest assured you are receiving the same medication as you would at your neighborhood pharmacy.

A generic medication is an exact copy of a brand-name medicine, it has the same route of administration, dosage, intended use, side effects, safety and strength.
